

Please describe the biggest conflict or disagreement you had as a couple. Please describe the conflict in as much detail as you can remember. Where were you at the time you had this disagreement? What time of day was it? What was the weather like? What had you been doing before this disagreement occurred?

M109

The biggest conflict occurred when she saw me talking to a girl who was trying to be with me when my girlfriend and I got together. We were at the Lycoming football banquet, inside, at 10:00 at night. Before this disagreement had (unreadable) hanging out w/some friends getting ready to go to the banquet.

M116

One time we were talking on the phone and she told someone that she would go to this party. I asked who it was and she just said it was a friend. I asked who and she told me who and it was another guy who had been calling her. I hung up and didn't call back. I was home and she was at school. We were having a very nice discussion until this point. It was about 10:00 at night.

M115

At the end of the freshman year I considered us seeing how things would be if we saw other people over the summer. She has a very hard time dealing with this. This was not over the course of one day, however. It was over a few weeks, in the spring of 2000. We had been on spring break the week before I brought it up.

F116

I was here at school & he was back home. We were on the phone & another guy (who liked me at the time & my boyfriend knew also) knocked on my door & asked if I was going to come downstairs to a party. I said I would when I got off the phone. My boyfriend asked who it was & I was hesitant to tell him who. At first I lied but immediately told the truth. He got mad because I lied at first & hung up on me & we didn't talk until the next morning.

F115

The first time we were to be separated for a long time was over the summer. Our homes are 400 miles away from each other. Our 2 conflicts came before we left for 4 months and in July after we'd been away from each other. We had trouble because he wasn't sure about maintaining a serious relationship over the distance. This was not a screaming fight but a discussion. In the summer, he cheated - which cause (sic) what I would consider the biggest conflict.

M114

We both have very bad driving records, one day on my way to work I got an excessive speeding ticket and we financially could not afford it. Rather than trying to find a way to handle the situation, she became very upset with me and made me feel as though I viewed the ticket as a trivial happening. After the argument we both left but returned later, apologized (both of us) and found a reasonable solution to the problem.

F114

I had just found out that he had told me he quit smoking & had been still doing it & hiding it from me. We were at our apartment & it was night time. I told him that he violated my trust for him & then started crying. I think it was a warm, summer night.

M113

I was probably drunk so at night and I don't even remember. So it was probably something petty.

F113

None

M112

We broke up for 1 week right after our 1st year of college. I felt that I was not there for her and she deserved better.

F112

Last May when we came home for the summer. We broke up for a week because he felt I deserved better. I was offered a promotion at work and he was having problems finding a summer job. I was at home and we broke up over the phone. I was watching TV before I called him and it was a bit dreary outside.

M111

My girlfriend once told me that I wasn't any fun anymore. I became hurt (my feelings). We were at JPs on campus and she was playing w/ a plastic toy gun and was pretending to put it down her pants and I told her it was dirty, and she told me I was no fun anymore. Recently I had been getting sick so I was afraid of handling public things. It was in the evening, no precipitation. I was mad; and wondered if she really felt that way and we talked and got over it fast.

F111

We had a slight disagreement because I yelled at him because he scolded me for touching something in a public place and he told me "it was dirty" because he worries about that and I told him he was no fun which really bothered him.

M110

I had come home from college for the weekend. My friends and I wanted to go out drinking but my girlfriend didn't want me to go. I ended up dropping my friends off (by this time it was night) and my girlfriend and I stayed in the car and argued about it. I told that lately I had been having doubts about our relationship and I wanted more time w/ my friends.

F110

The biggest disagreement was when he mentioned to a group of friends that I was being possessive. He only said that because I was sick the night before and asked him to stay with me. It was last year when he came home a weekend from school

F101

His feeling toward 'exgirlfriend'. X-mas break 98 @ his house. Wanted me to meet her. I didn't he gave her a long extended hug & kiss when they thought my back was turned. felt like something else was going on when I wasn't around. Found out later he cheated on me w/her little over one month after we started going out. I found out in Jan, because he felt guilty and I was taking care of him since he was sick. (sic)

M101

We did once have a large verbal fight once in our relationship. I really can't remember what it was over other than a difference of opinion. Well, actually now that I think about it, it was over the future of the relationship. It was after dark and in my dorm room. Before the argument I think we were just hanging out.

F102

I don't think we have ever really had a conflict. I was upset one time last weekend, after a night of partying, because I felt that he was not "with me". He was really hard to contact. I cried, but he made me feel better.

M102

I wanted nachos and she didn't want them so I got pissed.

F103

It's minor, but it's the only one I can remember. He was joking around and said something like I don't want to walk w/you anymore and I said fine (it was all in a joking manner) and started walking in the opposite direction. I took a few steps and turned around to see if he had stopped walking and he hadn't so I walked all the way back to my dorm. He kept walking to the commuter parking lot and drove over to my dorm. He asked me why I didn't stop walking away and then I said I did - but he was walking away too. He said he turned around and I kept walking so he did too. We had turned around at different time - and when we asked each other what were getting so worked up over, neither of us knew. It was completely ridiculous.

M103

Right when we first started "talking." This guy Rick was supposedly hurt because we started dating and he liked her. She had no feelings for him but didn't want to make him upset. This put our relationship on hold for a little while till I told her I wouldn't wait and that Rick had somewhat brainwashed her.

M104

I wanted to go to a party with my friend and I told her that she couldn't go with me. She gave up all her friends for me and wanted to be with me 24/7. I want to be more social, but she just wants me to be her world. It was in the spring and I remember being outside on my porch without a jacket and arguing with her on the phone.

F104

2.5 years into the relationship he was confused. Then this chick asked him out and he got a big head on him and “saw” her for 6 months. We still talked although it was hard. Even harder was having to work @ the same restaurant w/both of them. He told me everything that happened in their relationship & e realized that she wasn’t me.

F105

Our largest conflict happened at the end of last school year. We both wanted different things, I wanted a lot of space and he wanted us to be together all the time. When I told him one night on the phone when he was in South Carolina that I wanted different things he flipped out and started to yell at me. I was very confused with what I wanted at that time so it probably came out all wrong. A week later I was in Colorado and he was home and I called him, we fought about what had been said then broke up.

M105

I was doing work and she was in a bad mood. She called and wanted to see me, but I couldn’t go over cause I wanted to do my work. We argued for a little, but compromised.

F106

One time we were both drinking. It was late at night and we came back from the bar. Evidently I was acting “sloppy” and my partner became discusted (sic) with me, so I started yelling at him about how he always picks on me and thinks he’s better than everyone else and he kept patronizing me and I got so mad that I just walked out & went the whole way across campus back to my dorm room in the freezing cold.

M106

Hadn’t seen her in nearly 1 month b/c a trip we took. 2 days after finally being home & w/her. I went out w/an old high school friend (girl) that I hadn’t seen in 1 yr and whom never my g-friend never met. (sic) We also went w/several of my friends whom my g-friend knows well. My g-friend got very jealous of the way my old high school friend and I were interacting. I & my friends believe the interaction was harmless, after discussing the issue w/my girl, she also admitted it was harmless & she was jealous & sorry. I had troubles accepting her apology b/c this was the 3rd major time she revealed such jealousy in public ruining very good and innocent nights. All 3 nights were special events as well

F107

I was at home and he had just returned to school & we were on the phone. It was about 7 p.m. It was very cold outside & I had been watching the dog. He was upset b/c he didn’t like the way I was dealing w/some problems at home & I didn’t like his suggestions.

M107

It is a continuing disagreement over her not wanting to do anything w/my parents or my family.

F108

When he hasn't trusted me. It was an afternoon early evening here at school. Warm outside. I left after yelling & he called we talked for hours on the phone & I returned there to go to bed.

M108

I think our biggest problem/conflict is religion. I don't believe. She on the other hand is a firm believer. Her family also is big time into church.

F109

The only real disagreement we have ever had was about jealous. At the football banquet we had a misunderstanding of what we both saw. He saw me w/a guy friend who was hugging me b/c I was upset that I was him w/a girl dancing that he knew I did not like. But she pulled him to her when he didn't want to dance w/her. I was upset b/c I couldn't find him & that is what I saw when I did.

M165

Our latest argument was that we haven't been seeing enough of each other. I believe that took place last week. We both have very busy schedules.

F165

He got an offer to go on a trip with a friend. I didn't want him to go, but he wanted to. He ended up going. It was over Christmas vacation. a few days after the holiday.

F166

The biggest conflict occurred this past summer on the way home from a friend's party. It was nighttime when we drove home. He didn't really enjoy the party b/c he didn't know too many people. I tried numerous times to get him involved in the various activities & he just continued to sit there. I decided I wanted to have fun since I haven't seen my friends in quite some time, so I enjoyed myself. He got a little annoyed that I had fun when he wasn't & we ended up not talking the entire ride home.

M166

Her friends party, she knew all these people and I knew like two people (her included) I am not as outgoing as my girlfriend is, I think it's one of her greatest traits. I just wanted her to not stand me alone and we miscommunicated, so she decided that I wasn't going to ruin her evening, which in away I can understand being that she hadn't seen some of these people in a long time.

M167

It was in April of '00 @ night, around 11 or 12. It was a chilly night and we were on the phone. I was preparing to finish-up my college career and was worried about finals & finding a job. I was not confident in myself and felt I had to make changes & prepare for the future. I felt held back and reluctant in having a relationship until I was sure of my future. She was upset by this and didn't understand my reasoning or thinking. was scared and didn't want to show it.

F167

Last spring, when he was graduating from college, he was unsure of where he was going because he hadn't found a job yet & he didn't know if he was staying near school. This was a concern because I had (at the time) 3 more years of school. So we broke up for about 3 weeks, but spent our free time together regardless. And we got back together anyway. So, we had a conflict in miscommunication.

F168

I was overwhelmed & stressed out about my classes & I wasn't spending much time w/him. He was mad b/c I wasn't spending time w/him. I considered ending our relationship b/c he would not stop bugging me about spending time w/him.

M168

We were in her room discussing how busy she was & how she couldn't free up any time to be with me. She said she didn't need nor want to be with me. I then just walked out.

M169

The biggest conflict has only been a disagreement/misunderstanding. My girlfriend had been away for a while and a while after she had gotten back home, I got jealous about something that I just misunderstood. We got into an argument about it, but we both realized that we had misunderstood the other.

F169

We were talking online over the summer the day before he was supposed to visit me for the weekend, and he told me he was jealous of a male friend of mine who I had spent a lot of time with on a trip the tour choir took to Europe. He asked if he had any reason to be and I said yes but that it was late and I wanted to talk with him about it in person, anyway. The male friend had been flirtatious and we had kissed (a peck) once on the trip, but he expected the worst & so when I saw him the next day he was thinking he'd have to break up with me, but instead it was more of a misunderstanding since I had no real feelings for the male friend.

M170

We got into a fight b/c I went out one night when I had said earlier that I would stay in with him, since he had practice the next morning. But I changed my mind and was out late with guys that are his friends, and he said that because I'd changed my mind, he couldn't trust me. This fight began at 8 am the next morning when he came to my room and woke me up to ask where I'd been the night before.

F170

She told me that she would spend the night in with me but then without telling me she went out and started drinking. This has happened more than once.

F117

The biggest conflict we've had is when I first told him that I loved him. The conflict was more my fault because he did not say anything in return he just acted somewhat shocked. It was very late at night. Before the disagreement we had been at a friends house for a party. We had both had a little to drink. It was cold outside. It had been slushy all night and the snow on the ground was old and dirty. We were at our friends house still when the conflict took place. I tried to act like it wasn't a problem but after a few days we talked it out.

M117

We really never had a fight. We have been going out for more than 2 months and never fought.

M118

We were sitting in her room calmly balancing our checking accounts when I made the comment on how much I've spent recently. She thought I was referring to our relationship, when in fact I had just purchased some expensive gifts for my family. It was raining outside that day. It happened at about five in the afternoon.

F118

It was a warm day about a year ago. We were arguing about money. He likes to go out every other night to the bars and he is spending all his savings. We both are trying to save cause we know we have to pay loans. Then I started saying is he going to do this when we have kids, and it went on and on for awhile. Then we calmed down and talked.

M119

She was spending a lot of time with one of our male friends and people were saying things about them as a relationship level

F119

I am trying to quit smoking and he has been helping me out a lot in my efforts. One day I had more cigarettes than I had said I was going to have. He asked me and I lied, but he had already found out how many I had had. We ended up getting into a pretty big argument.

F120

It happened 1 week ago (today is 1/31/01). We were fighting because he was having a bad day and came over. We were driving back to his house and there was a car going to cut him off. As a "back street driver" I told him "don't speed up, he's got his blinker on" - he yelled, I yelled back, he screamed, I wanted to go home and he drove like a maniac home. In Williamsport at night. Before the argu. I was going to go to his house for dinner. He was also mad I wasn't ready to go when he got there.

M120

This past week I was taking her to my house and she told me that someone had their turnsignal on. It then became yelling and she said she wanted to go home. I drove her home and fast because I was upset. It was night. It was cold and rush hour. We were going to my house for supper.

M121

I went back to her place to take a nap. I say a # of a guy she met at her friends school. It turns out the guy was going to give her tickets to a football game. It was overcast. It was in the morning. I had just gotten back from class.

F121

The biggest conflict we had as a couple was when I went away for a weekend. I met a friend who offered to take me to a Penn State game. My partner found out and accused me of cheating. We were at my house and it was in the morning. The weather was nice and we had been sleeping before.

M122

It was in the afternoon the day of the fall formal. She thought that I was getting ready to leave her.

F122

On our way back from Wallop's Island on long weekend w/a class & we stopped at Wendy's for supper. It was raining out & we had been driving all day. I started saying stuff about his food habits & how he wasn't healthy & he started a whole schprel(sic) about my vegetarianism. I got mad & then we started fighting about all of our other disagreements, making a scene in the restaurant - he stormed out & didn't look at me the whole way home.

M123

Our fight was in my room. It was mid afternoon. The weather was rainy and cold outside. We were playing a card game before the first occurred.

F123

A couple of days ago we were in his room playing cards and I beat him, but he usually wins. I was laughing at him because I won and he was being a baby because he lost. He got mad at me for laughing and told me to leave his room, as I was putting on my shoes to go. Then he threw my coat out the door. The thing I got mad about was my coat because I thought that was very disrespectful and rude, so I yelled at him and he yelled back and I left.

M124

When I was feeling sad and depressed and she wanted to leave not realizing I needed her there I didn't come out and say stay with me figuring she would realize. An argument developed and discussions about our relationship began. We were emotional and worked through it.

F124

We were talking about him not having any money & he said he wanted to get a job. I suggested that he work at the mall or some other retail job. He said he wouldn't work for that little money & in saying that I thought he was insulting me b/c I work minimum wage. This was in his dorm room at night.

M125

It was 2:00 am, winter, I got a B-day present from another girl. It was just a stuffed animal. But she flipped out.

F125

I think the biggest disagreement/conflict we had this fall. It was a weekend & I was at a party & another person was talking to me & telling me about some things they had heard about my boyfriend & I (stuff we had done as individuals) from another person, who has tried to cause problems before. The stuff about me was not true, but I never thought if his was or not. I went to his room & explained what I had heard & asked him to tell me the truth & explain things.

M126

It was just a couple weeks ago when I just bought me dog. She was very upset that she drove down to my house and I did not spend enough time with her.

F126

We were in her room and we had a disagreement over me being dishonest. I said that I did not have sexual intercourse with a past boyfriend & I lied.

M127

Fall semester '99 my partner and I had just gotten back to school. She wanted to spend a lot of time together. I did too, but I also wanted to hang out with my friends. We started arguing over everything for the ensuing couple of weeks. Finally, on a sunny Friday afternoon what turned out to be yet another argument we found ourselves separated.

F127

The biggest conflict that we ever had was actually when we were split up for five months. I had found out that his ex-girlfriend had come up for the weekend! Boy was I mad. I found out in the cafeteria I started crying. He came over to ask me if I was okay. I asked him to come to my room after dinner. It was a very sunny day (I know this b/c earlier that day I was hit by a car when the sun was in an older man's eye.) At around 5:00 he came over. I confronted him about having his ex spend the weekend. He admitted, at which I expelled a line of choice words (something I rarely do), demanded to know where she had slept. He told me that I did not want to know the answer & shouldn't have asked the question. The argument was out of character for me, but I was very hurt.

F128

We were here, in Skeath, outside my room, there was a full moon. I can't remember what we were fighting about, but it was really late and we were probably fighting about how we never spend a whole lot of time together we yelled more than usual and said some things we regretted.

M128

We have had disagreements, every couple does, but incredibly huge. She and I were upset at each other on 02-01-01 about decisions being made without my being aware. She planned on bringing her step brother here to a party. I think he would cause trouble. We basically spoke back and forth about it, said a few things and made up an hour later.

M129

Conflict on whether to attend a party with her family at their house. We were at school in the afternoon.

F129

We really haven't had a conflict. But the other day I was tired and sick and wanted to be left alone so I snapped at him after chemistry class the other day on our way to lunch.

F130

The biggest disagreement we had was to determine if we were going to keep our child or not. We decided that we weren't but he never told me that he wanted to keep it because he did not want to see me cry at night anymore than I already was. It was in the day and it was a nice day at that. The sun was shining very brightly and we were in his house.

M130

One night we were having sexual intercourse and I got a little too physical. We argued about 5 min. she didn't want me by her touching her or near her. The next day she found herself in another man's house telling our problems and eventually slept with him.

F131

I was away at school and my boyfriend was at home. We had both been out w/our friends and I called him to let him know that I was home okay. When he asked me where I was that night he got the wrong impression and thought I was out w/ this guy that had a crush on me. (that I was in this guys room) and we ended up fighting b/c of a misunderstanding & then neither of us listened to the other one.

M131

I was upset with her because she went to a party and I had already been drinking. It was 2 in the morning and she called me so I asked her if this guy was there that I didn't like and she said yes so I flipped out because I was jealous of him. I was at a friends house during this whole conversation.

M132

It was the conflict that caused our temporary separation. She told me that over break she had come close to cheating on me with another man. It was around 11 or 12 pm shortly after we had gotten back from school. The weather was cold out. We had already been on each others nerves a little before break. Because of this we were a little avoident (sic)of each other for a few days.

F132

We were in my dorm room at school; it was early evening. He had come over to talk because he said I'd been "distant" and "irritable" lately. We argued about it for a while and then I said that I thought we should take some time apart because we'd been spending too much time together. He agreed and then left. It was winter, flurrying lightly.

F133

There was a boy who I had been interested with prior to our relationship who transferred back to Lycoming last semester. I began to feel like I might be interested in him. I told Matt on a Friday afternoon around 1:30 pm. It was a beautiful fall day. We almost broke up. We were both crying. We decided, however, that we wanted to stay together.

M133

We had a disagreement because I challenged her in front of her friends in what she considered to be an inappropriate manner. We were in her room at about 8 it was cool out in early autumn. Before the disagreement we were both at choir. After I challenged her she ignored and we didn't settle the conflict until a day or two later.

F134

We were hanging out after a summer soccer game, it was nighttime. We were with a bunch of friends. He spent the entire night talking w/them & never checked on me or came over. I had made a few attempts, but he continue talking w/them.

M134

We haven't had a disagreement.

M135

One Friday night my partner could not come visit me. I promised I would not drink, but I got trashed. It was at night on a cold winter day.

F135

Last Friday night I went home for the weekend and he stayed here because he had concerts all weekend for choir. Friday was bid return night for his frat & he promised me that he wouldn't drink. He ended up getting drunk and when I talked to him at 12:30 that night he couldn't even stand up. He apologized for it and drove 3 hours to see me the following Monday.

F136

Last year, I went to Fl over spring break. The week after I got back, he became sure I cheated on him. I was sure he cheated on me. This was a continuous disagreement. This led to me becoming close to one of his friends. Then he got jealous. I was so close to his friend. Over grad. weekend, at night, when we were drinking, the truth came out. My boyfriend hated that I was friends with this guy it led to a huge problem.

M136

We have problems trusting each other and I was at a party, a girl tried to kiss me and I avoided it. The next party the same girl and I became friends. I had told my girlfriend about the incident and she was very mad at me for being friends with her. It was the nighttime, fall season, drinking before it occurred.

F137

The biggest conflict we had when I was approached by my x-boyfriend in a bar where I live. I didn't want to discuss it and it made my boyfriend feel insecure about our relationship.

He was at his home and I was at mine (2 hrs from each other). It was late at night/early morning ~ 2:30 a.m. It was a nice summer night. We were both drinking b/f the conflict occurred.

M137

We went to the Dave Mathew Concert at Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia. She went into the concert, I just tailgated. When we were not together I happened to get into a fight. So when we met up later on that cool summer night she saw cuts on my hand and got mad after I told her. It seemed she blamed the incident on me and I got upset with that, we were yelling, she was crying. I was also drunk.

F138

he & his friends are all 21 & he asked me to be DD one Sat. night...(I originally planned on hanging out w/him that night so I was already at his house...he decided to go w/the group last minute) I agreed only because he said he'd be ready to go no later than 12 am - he called me at 2:30 am looking for a ride!

M138

She was beating me in a game of monopoly and I don't like to lose so I got a little mad. We were at my apartment. It was a nice day. Watching TV.

F139

After the football banquet, he was very drunk at the banquet and he was in my opinion being an embarrassment, being loud & overly friendly with people he is not too close too. When we got home I was angry so I avoided him he said he thought the relationship was no longer working because of his drunken state as soon as I said fine he refuted and said he loved me and he wanted work on it.

M139

After football banquet I was very drunk and acting very poorly she was mad. Things in relationship poor week prior. It was snowing 1-2 in morning Told her I was not happy and wanted to break up. Then I took it back.

F140

We were fighting about how much time we spend together. It was night time & we were both tired & I was a little moody. We both had a ton of work to do & I was upset that we weren't spending enough "alone" time together. He said he couldn't do anything about it & I couldn't accept that answer & started a fight.

M140

At my banquet she felt I wasn't paying enough attention to her and she flipped out. We left 1:00 am went to my car, but it was snowing and I was drinking so we walked home. She finally told me what was wrong, I told her how I felt, about my family problems and what I had to do with that. That same night we made up and actually have been perfect ever since.

F141

Biggest conflict was when he accused me of wanted to hook Ć another guy. Earlier I had shown the other guy my room & people were like did you see her & him, he is trying to hook up with her. We later went to the bar & people got into my boyfriend's head & I got mad that he actually thought that. We came back to the dorms & had a verbal fight, but resolved it the next day. Place - dorm room/bar; it was Sat. night, clear & cold; before - hanging out in my room - had a beer or 2

M141

At my banquet, she left me and didn't spend any time with me. I found her in someone's room partying, when I asked her to go with me. We ere in a hotel room. It was probably around 11:30 pm, snowy, we had been partying.

F142

We had a rough spot in the beginning of our relationship. He as having doubts about us being so serious at such a young age. It lasted two days. The first day a group of us went to the mall and then bowling. He did not talk to me at all, or hold my hand the way he usually does. There was no contact and I was really upset. The next day we had a talk on his porch, and he explained that he thought he wanted to see other people, but had changed his mind. It was a very confusing, very scary time in our relationship.

M142

I felt about 2 ½ years ago, that I wanted to date other people, YET I was very happy & had no reason for this feeling. I talked with her about it. It made me realize what the conflict actually was about. I felt I was going to miss to much because we were about to go to different colleges. It was a subconscious thought & that this thought was influenced by a stereotype that couples in high school now a days cannot last into college, however we have!!

F143

It was just the other night, he came to my room to say hello, but wasn't friendly b/c I was in a bad mood that day. He told me I'm only affectionate when it's convenient for me, I got upset & refused to kiss him before I left. I went to his room at 2 am to discuss things, he suggested we break up. We talked for 3 hrs. and ultimately decided we're just seeing too much of each other lately & that's why we keep arguing. It all turned out of.

M143

She thought I had cheated on her. We fought about it & she realized she has received bad info. It was last July, in the evening of a nice sunny day. (She was in New York, I was on Lyco Campus. We used the phone.)

M144

She kissed another guy on New Year's Eve while I was in Florida and she didn't tell me. I had to find out from someone else. I confronted her and she lied right to my face.

F144

It was at night - summer - we had a disagreement b/c he said I wasn't paying much attention to him, he said I neglect him and he felt I didn't think he was attractive b/c I didn't want sex as much as him.

F145

Night time we were going to bed but I was getting few things ready for the next morning usually we watch a movie before we go to sleep & I was in my room when the phone rang & he said he was going to sleep. I said then I'm not coming over. He said "Why not" in a mad voice. (It was cold & rainy outside) and then I decided I would sleep over there, I went over and saw my pillows on the floor & I said what is this and he said you do that to me. I became furious and walked out, came back tried to discuss but became madder. Then wrote a note and I'm sorry, explaining my mood & that I'll see him tomorrow.

M145

We were driving home from my aunts house on thanksgiving day about 3:00 pm. We left my family to visit hers. She doesn't get along too well so she spent the few hours that we were there socially locked away in herself..quiet and no eye contact. It was gloomy out and I was tired of her not giving my family a chance. I yelled and she yelled. Then I yelled louder. It ended up sounding like me scolding (sic) her like a child. I was speeding during this, from my anger.

F146

While trying to fall asleep on e night (late --2 or 3 in the morn.), I began arguing about his ex-girlfriend who is constantly calling him. It was snowing. I only remember this b/c I left his house after our fight escalated to being extremely unproductive & hurtful. The 'trigger' was that earlier that evening, his ex-girlfriend drove from Virginia to Williamsport to demand to move in w/him.

M146

Would be when she got a aditute (sic) about my baby's mothers age. Accused me of being a statchatorey (sic) rapist. We were at my house late at night about 330 in the morning. Weather was dark and cold out. We were getting along great before her accuazation (sic).

F147

This summer I was hanging out w/another person and my boyfriend got mad we broke up but got back together. That guy wants to marry me and always say things, but he knows that I don't want to be w/him. My boyfriend hates that guy & everything about him. We got into a big fight about it. My boyfriend told me to choose him or the other guy, I got mad that he gave me an ultimatum. It was at night & my boyfriend was drunk.

M147

Earlier last semester we had a argument about her boss who loves her I got tired of him having the same or better priorities as me so I said that that needed to change or I couldn't continue. Many crying arguments broke up for a few weeks.

M148

On a Friday night she kissed another guy and didn't tell me and I found out on Sat night. It was in her room and we talked about it and I took a week or so to decide how I felt.

F148

The biggest disagreement we have had is about me & my personality. He doesn't like that I am the kind of person who keeps things to myself sometimes, or that I don't feel like making out or having sex. We were in my dorm room, at night. I don't remember the weather. Before we argued we were out separately w/our friends & then ended up meeting later at a party.

M149

I was at home on a weekend (Sunday) & she called me from school because she thought I was fooling around on her. she had heard some things...we broke up.

F149

He was supposed to come talk to me at 9pm because I had something to discuss w/him @ 945 I went to his room and he was sitting watching tv. I got mad b/c he hadn't come to my room like he was supposed to. Then when I finally went & found him he didn't have time to talk b/c he "had" to go to the bar w/his buddies. It was cold outside. I had been doing homework & he had been watching t.v.

F150

One Friday night I was at school (college) and my boyfriend was at home. I went out with friends and did some things my boyfriend didn't like. I called him at 2:30 am to tell him. I was in my dorm room, he was at his house, 2 hours away. It was a cold January night and I missed him terribly. When I called & told him what I did, he was disappointed in me. We never raised our voices to a yelling degree, but we had a lot to work through the next day.

M150

We were at my house and something came up about her past that I really didn't need to hear and we had I guess you call a fight. Before this we were getting ready to go out for the evening.

F151

I just came back from France and he cheated on me. It was late afternoon. We were in his room. We just had a great weekend together in the city.

M151

-I cheated.

-In my room.

-Night.

-Do not remember weather.

-talking

F152

We were at school and I was supposed to go out with my friends and he wanted me to come over before I went out, but I wanted to get ready. I was selfish because I did have enough time to see him. We argued about it for prob. an hr. outside (the fact that I sometimes don't do things that I could) then we made up & everything was fine.

M152

We were at school and the conflict was about her hanging out or putting her friends before our relationship. It was close to night, evening or so. It was in front of the Heim building and we threaten to break it off.

M153

It was cold but no snow. I had a busy day. I got back and called her but she said she was too busy to talk. I let her go and then I found out that she couldn't talk because she was talking to my friend. I got jealous and I acted like a baby towards her, wouldn't talk to her, look at her, etc. I don't know if this disagreement has been settled.

F153

He got mad because I mentioned something about one of my ex-boyfriends. He gets jealous when I even mention their name. We were laying in my bed talking before we went to sleep at about midnight.

F154

Our biggest fight took place actually over a period of a few months. At the beginning of the year this year (first semester) my boyfriend had found out about something I had been keeping from him. It escalated into a bad series of little break ups, cheating, and basically not trusting each other. We were finally able to fix everything after some time but it was an emotional roller coaster I never want to go on again. We have never been happier now.

M154

I was in her room and she was sitting with this guy when I walked in and I went off on her yelling at her because I knew what was going to happen between the 2 of them.

F155

The biggest disagreement we have ever had is when we openly discussed our views on pre-marital sex. We were hiking and stopped to rest. That is when we talked about it. Our opinions (sic) definitely differed, but we respect each other's viewpoint. This is the closest thing to a conflict that we have ever had.

M155

Honestly, we have had no major disagreements.

M156

We were in our apartment playing a game with another couple. One of the questions I had to answer was about who would get the most beads at Mardi Gras. I answered the other girl because my girlfriend and I had talked about it a little while ago and she said she would never flash there. After they left (it was pretty late by that time) and we went to bed she started yelling at me about how I embarrassed and insulted her. She was completely upset and I honestly had no idea of what she was talking about until she explained the above. I tried to say how I meant it but it still escalated into an argument with both of us getting upset and me almost leaving. (We started playing at night - we just came back from a dinner with the other couple and it was snowing heavily outside)

F156

For a long time I didn't even know what a big conflict is. It seemed to me he cannot even get angry. Two years ago my partner had some personal problems. I had to come to the US for the summer. We originally planned him going then back to Prague with me but it was not possible. The whole summer we stayed at his parent's house plus we were both hurt from all the things that had happened. "Good time" for disagreements.

Unfortunately, I have to say that the whole summer was one big conflict. It was a very hot summer. Summer made for lovers, for us... The first week of that summer my partner and I were visiting his brother and his girlfriend. We wanted to have a good time...and we thought we did...until he talked to his brother on the phone. He told him that his girlfriend didn't like one of my jokes and to watch it. My partner tried to tell me kindly but I could not believe she even complained. I thought it's not fair. Well, there was another night with them - "a cherry on the top." It started so innocently (sic) and ended up with not one night but several nights of disagreeing, yelling. It was the first time I saw my partner really mad. The worst thing was that we both knew that the core of our fights was not this misunderstanding but our relationship, all the waiting and the pain.

F157

The biggest disagreement was over the phone. It was cold outside I was tired & laying in bed so was he. We were arguing about nothing in particular. We are both sick of being apart and ready to get married.

M157

Once after we were engaged we went through a trying period of being separated with her at school and me at home. She tried to end the relationship and we spent more than a few hours hashing things out one night.

F158

One that hurt me the most was in our 2nd month dating about 4 months after we first meet. We were at a mutual friends party, it was pretty late in the night, around midnight. It was winter, so it was cold. We had been drinking a little. We were playing beer pong before we got in the fight, I don't remember what we were talking about but one of his friends was yelling/making fun of him for spending too much time with me and putting me first. Then he told his friend right in front of me that he would never choose me over his friends. That really hurt my feelings. I left the party he followed 5 minutes later and we yelled at each other for awhile.

M158

Her room, night time, it was cold outside. I was at a bar (drinking) she got really mad at me b/c she asked me not to drink and I did b/c I wanted to.

F159

He made a joke out of me getting in a car accident.

M159

In her room

morning

nice but cool

went to a friends house to visit & did not tell her for overnight

M160

I am currently a senior and my fiancé is a junior. We constantly argue about my plans after college. I want to go to grad school in California, but I want to go right away while I have the money and ambition. She wants me to wait for her. This disagreement happens so often that I can't describe any details.

F160

Probably the night that he proposed. I was going to break up with him b/c I didn't feel that we wanted the same things. We had both been drinking and it was like 1:00 am.

M161

Our one fight happened right before I was about to go to court. I was looking for support, and she was being difficult. We both got angry. All that resulted was a couple (2) sexless nights and an apology on my part for my being understanding.

F161

At night in bed - I wanted sex, he didn't but I didn't get the hint - he got upset b/c I kept waking him up & then thought I was upset b/c he didn't want sex. I got upset b/c he wouldn't talk to me & tell me what was wrong or anything at all. He was under a lot of stress at the time & frustrated w/me from a previous occurrence(sic). I'm dense & don't catch on easily to moods/situations.

M162

It was night. We had been drinking we were at a dance party and she got mad b/c I was dancing w/someone else.

F162

My partner and I went to the doctor's office. I left him there w/ the understanding that he would call & I'd pick him up. I hadn't heard from him, so I tried to find him. I drove around for 30 minutes, after calling the doctor's office, only to find out that he was sitting in the café eating. I was mad because of the disrespect he had shown towards me by not considering my feelings and letting me know he walked home so I wouldn't worry.

M163

Whether she was someone I would consider marrying or not to which I replied, I didn't know. I was in my room around ten pm and I think it was snowing. Prior to this I was getting ready for bed. We were talking on IM.

F163

It was over Christmas Break, and I think I was going through some kind of phase, and really depressed. We started talking about the future, and he told me that he would like to get married, but he wasn't sure if it was to me or not. I obviously didn't like that answer so I got upset and hung up the phone on him. He called back and we had some few choice words.

F164

My b.f. kept going to a certain "friend" for advice. He would not come to me w/any of his problems. This happened for almost a week. We were in the lounge when the fight happened. It was cold outside & it was fairly late about 11:30 pm. I was working on my computer doing my resume.

M164

We had been fighting a few day. She wouldn't discuss things she just bottled things up until she blew. I started to see if maybe there was someone else out there and I made a phone call the girl called back and left a message and my girlfriend heard the message. I never did anything with th4 girl other than talk to her. She thought it was the same as cheating.

Who initiated the conflict? How?

M109

She became upset and walked away.

M116

Her, she tried to hide the identity of the person.

M115

Probably me. I brought it up.

F116

Me. Because I lied at first

F115

My partner initiated the conflict by cheating.

M114

I believe she did by getting so angry with me for the ticket.

F114

I did b/c I was mad & felt like he was lying to me. I let him know this, but I didn't yell at him.

M113

? Probably me?

F113

N/A

M112

I did, by telling her how I felt.

F112

He became distant and didn't return my calls and seemed like he didn't care.

M111

Me, by saying the plastic toy gun was dirty.

F111

Me, by yelling at me.

M110

She did b/c she know my friends mean a lot to me. (sic)

F110

I mentioned something about him saying that, to talk over it, and it branched from there.

F101

he did - stated above - his actions & then telling me he cheated

M101

I did by bringing up the subject in a snide manner

F102

I guess me

M102

Me, by bringing the nachos

F103

I did, by taking what he had said as a joke too far - thinking it would be funny.

M103

Both I guess. We sat in the Asbury study room and discussed it.

M104

I guess I did, by telling her that she couldn't go with me.

F014

Well both really. He was @ a point in his life where he was afraid of commitment and she came along.

F105

I guess I did, but he was way to possessive, and I needed space in the relationship.

M105

I think both of us, by starting to argue our point.

F106

I did by beginning to shout at him

M106

She did by publicly showing her anger & crushing everyones spirit, yet she refused to let us leave early or talk about it until the night was over. If she would have said something before getting so upset it could have easily been handled. Instead everyone's night was tarnished & we got into a tough discussion late into the morning hrs.

F107

I think he did because I asked to not say anything about it, to just let me talk about it to him & he wouldn't do it.

M107

Me. I asked her to go to dinner w/my family & wouldn't accept her "probably not"

F108

I was hurt & told him about it.

M108

No one. It came up in normal conversation when we met in NJ.

F109

We both did b/c he was just as upset as I was. He came up to me & said he was leaving & I walked away, & he came after me.

M165

It was mutual

F165

I did. I didn't want him to go, I wanted him to stay with me.

F166

I guess we both did in a way...we both did something to get on each others nerves. We didn't really fight. We just didn't talk for awhile. When we did, we just talked about our feelings.

M166

I would say together we did. By not talking about it right away.

M167

I did, b/c I thought we should end our relationship b/c I was unsure of my future.

F167

I initiated the conflict because he was acting very distant, so I confronted him & it blew up into an argument & he finally told me what was wrong & I became more angry b/c he could not talk to me.

F168

He did b/c he knew I was stressed out to begin with, but he still insisted on adding fuel to the fire.

M168

I did, asking to go out to dinner.

M169

I did, but confronting her with my jealous (sic) in a less than diplomatic way.

F169

I guess it was him because he asked if he had anything to “worry about” in regards to my male friend, meaning did I cheat to him.

M170

He initiated it by getting angry at me and waking me up at 8 in the morning to talk about it.

F170

I did. I approached her & told her I was upset.

F117

I did by becoming upset he did not respond the way I wanted him to.

M117

None

M118

She did. Because she thought that by my comment I was insinuating that she was the big spender.

F118

I did. He was ready to go out again.

M119

I did, we talked about it.

F119

I think he initiated it by pressing the matter on me. He would not let it drop.

F120

I believe he did by yelling at me after I let him know the guy was cutting him off.

M120

I did because I got mad and yelled back after she yelled at me.

M121

I asked her who's # it was. I had thought she lied to me.

F121

He initiated it by demanding to know who's phone # it was on my dresser.

M122

She did. She blew up on me in her apartment and told me that I didn't love her anymore and that I should leave.

F122

I did-I started criticizing his eating habits.

M123

Me. I got mad and threw her things into the hallway.

F123

He did because he was pouting and a baby because he lost.

M124

Both of us But more me. (I guess) Miscommunication

F124

I guess I did b/c I told him I didn't appreciate what he said.

M125

She did, she brought it up in bed.

F125

I guess I did, by asking about what I had heard.

M126

Nobody really initiated it.

F126

He did. He asked me the question. I told him the truth, finally & he got mad.

M127

I don't know

F127

I did. Explained above.

F128

Not sure, maybe me by saying something to get a point across that inadvertently (sic) hurt his feelings.

M128

I did. she said she was bringing him and I got silently mad. (We are usually silently mad for a little while and then we talk it all over)

M129

I did by saying I thought it was dumb.

F129

Me because I didn't feel well

F130

I did because I wanted the child but I knew I couldn't hurt my mother by not going to school. So he never told me how he felt just said you are about to go to college.

M130

I did by getting too excited

F131

I feel he did b/c he did not listen to me after I tried to tell him that this guy was not even out w/us. He gave one short answers along w/attitude.

M131

I did because I was drinking and I worried that she would leave me for him. I told her I was pissed and she asked why so I told her and she said I was ridiculous.

M132

She did. By cheating.

F132

I guess he did, by saying that we needed to talk.

F133

I did by telling Matt how I felt.

M133

My partner did because she refused to speak to me.

F134

I did, in a sarcastic manner.

M134

(Nothing)

M135

Me, I was an idiot and got drunk.

F135

He did. He broke his promise and while on the phone he lied and said that he only drank a little.

F136

Him. We were talking & he mentioned his name...this led to us discussing the issue at length. ended up as a huge problem.

M136

She left the room so she didn't get mad and I followed her out.

F137

I initiated it because I wouldn't discuss the conformation (sic) between myself and my "x" w/him.

M137

I would probably say she did, because without asking what happened she automatically assumed I started it and got angry with me for doing so, and I took offense to this.

F138

he did...I was supposed to be doing him a favor...I was worried, that was out of char. to not call me

M138

I did. Not sure.

F139

I did by not talking to him when we got home.

M139

I did, told her I had to talk to her

F140

Me, I said he didn't want to spend time with me.

M140

She did by flipping out at me without trying to understand the circumstances

F141

Me, I asked him what his prob. was.

M141

I did. I became angry and she noticed, we ended up talking through it. Basically, she new I was upset.

F142

I don't think it was initiated, it just kind of happened.

M142

I did. I invited her over & we talked about it.

F143

He did, coming to my room and telling me I was affectionate at my own convenience.

M143

She called me at work & accused me of cheating.

M144

She is a liar.

F144

He did - he told me not to talk.

F145

Both of us, he yelled at a louder voice & I retaliated.

M145

Me, I started to lecture her on how most girlfriends or fiancé's get to know the families and that she'll have to get along with mine sooner or later.

F146

I did --I approached the situation very hostile & negatively; egged him on until he finally responded in anger.

M146

Her, accusing me.

F147

I did, I left w/out saying bye. boyfriend got mad and left me a nasty message.

M147

I did, I told her I was tired of being less important than that moron.

M148

I did. I asked her if she had anything to tell me.

F148

He initiated it by saying things to me & being sarcastic when making comments.

M149

She did by accusing me of being a cheater

F149

I did by confronting him about not coming to my room

F150

I guess I did, because I called him. I'm the one who did it in the first place.

M150

I guess I did because I flipped out after hearing this and we just did not speak for the rest of the night until we got back home.

F151

he did

M151

Me, I cheated

F152

He did, by getting mad at me

M152

I did, because I want her to hang out with me before she went out. So I yelled @ her and hung up the phone on her.

M153

I did. Hung up on her.

F153

I did because I mentioned my ex

F154

I started it by lying for a few months about something I stupidly did with another guy. My boyfriend had asked me before about it b/c he heard rumors but I was too scared to tell him. He initiated when he finally asked me one more time to tell him the truth. I broke down b/c I couldn't hold it in any longer.

M154

I did, by yelling at her.

F155

Nobody. It was something that we just began to discuss.

M155

No one, not in any way.

M156

She did. I went to bed (she was already there) and when I laid down she started yelling at (I can't believe you could insult me like that!) me and may have pushed me.

F156

It is hard to say. It seems to me it just happened but generally it is me who has temper, wants to discuss the subject until everything is said and ...let's say solved.

F157

I did because I get very moody when I am under stress at school & away from him.

M157

She did, verbally by telling me she could no longer be with me.

F158

Me, I got upset by what he said and I said if that's the way he felt I didn't want to be with him. I was crying and upset.

M158

I did, by drinking

F159

He made the comment

M159

I did not tell her

M160

I initiated the conflict by telling her my future plans.

F160

I did. There was a string of events leading to my breaking point. I hadn't seen him all day (for the 2nd or 3rd day in a row) and I called him.

M161

Hard to say. Her, by not talking to me and not calling before she went to bed.

F161

I did by not being sympathetic to his problems.

M162

She did by yelling at me.

F162

I did, by confronting him about his actions.

M163

I think it was mutual.

F163

Probably me because I knew we shouldn't have been discussing it, but I brought it up anyway.

F164

Both of us.

M164

Me by looking elsewhere.

Why do you feel it occurred? Whose fault was it?

M109

I feel it occurred because she was jealous, but I would not say it was her fault, for I understand what its like to be jealous! I sometimes get jealous myself.

M116

She was trying to keep me from being upset. No bodies.

M115

Because I was unsure of my readiness to comit(sic), at the age of not quit (sic)19, into a relationship that I thought could probably last the rest of my life. It wasn't really anyone's fault. I had some emotional issues and they conflicted with her's.

M116

I feel it occurred because he was jealous. Be jealous is his fault because he knows I would never betray his trust.

F115

I feel this occurred in a time of weakness in our relationship. I would say it was his fault & I think he would say the same. He was very apologetic & said it was a huge mistake.

M114

We were both overly tense about our tight financial situation we were faced with and neither of us really helped the situation.

F114

He didn't want to disappoint me. It was mostly his fault b/c he tried to hide stuff from me but I guess I overreacted a little.

M113

?

F113

N/A

M112

I think I was being selfish and yes it was my fault.

F112

Because he didn't feel good enough for me. I (sic) was his fault completely.

M111

We were both tired and in bad moods both of our faults.

F111

His fault because I responded to his comment.

M110

B/c she has a need for control. I feel it was both of our faults. Me b/c I should be clearer about my feelings & her b/c she forced me to stay w/her.

F110

Because he was at school all year and I missed him. It was my fault.

F101

shattered I felt like I was to blame - maybe I did something wrong - but it was him.

M101

No ones fault, bit it did occur because we were both unsure of ourselves.

F102

Because I was upset I wasn't getting his attention

M102

My fault because I wanted the nachos

F103

I think we were testing each other - to see who would give in first. Mine.

M103

Neither's fault. A third party was what caused it.

M104

She has no friends to hang out with or confide in. I feel it was her fault for not understanding where I was coming from.

F104

Everyone says it takes two but I believe it was her fault. b/c technically when she asked him we were still together - - although he pursued it.

F105

We had spent too much time together, we were too jealous of everything and neither of us knew how to fix the problem even though we really wanted to.

M105

No ones fault just diference (sic) of emotions at the time.

F106

It occurred because I was drunk. I believe it to be my fault.

M106
Jealousy. Hers

F107
He was just trying to help but I wasn't looking for help, just someone to listen. I think it was both our faults. (I over-reacted a little.)

M107
Because: a) I wouldn't drop the subject
b) she wouldn't compromise

F108
He wasn't being fair & trusting me.

M108
We both are hard headed. Neither one's.

F109
This occurred b/c of drinking & it was both our faults.

M165
We both have a lot to do with the prob.

F165
He really wanted to go with his friend. It was both of our faults.

F166
Same as above - it was both our faults for letting it get like that.

M166
Because sometimes we both can be stubborn. Both our faults.

M167
I feel it was due to the age difference and our different "stages of life" (she just started college and I was just ending)

F167
It occurred because he did not feel confident in our relationship that I could help him with what he was going through.

F168
- Bad timing
- I don't think anyone was at fault.

M168
Both, our schedules just conflict, well her's more than mine, I can always free up time.

F169

I feel it occurred because I was dumb, jealous and have a low self-esteem.

M169

I think he had a reason to suspect since the male friend & I like to jokingly flirt and a right to know. I had planned on telling him about what had happened on the trip but he got to me first. I guess it was my fault for giving him reason to suspect.

M170

It occurred because I did not think that he would be upset if I changed my mind and went out, because I wouldn't think that I had the right to be upset if he did that to me.

F170

Her fault. She told me one thing and did the exact opposite.

F117

It occurred because I opened myself up to him and was hoping for a particular response. It was my fault because I overreacted when I did not get the response I wanted.

M117

None

M118

Because we were both feeling very stressed out and tired because it was a Monday and we had a busy weekend. Mine. I should've never have brought it up.

F118

No ones fault. It was time we talked about it.

M119

I was pissed off. No one's she totally didn't feel that he was trying to get with her. She thought he was just being friendly.

F119

Part of the fault was mine for lying, but I did not see the whole situation as being as big a deal as he did.

F120

He was in a bad mood - his

M120

I feel she was mad to begin with and yelled at me.

M121

? Both

F121

He felt I was being unfaithful. It was his because he jumped to conclusions.

M122

My fault I wasn't spending much time with her.

F122

I was already extremely upset at the other guys because they were making extremely offensive animal killing comments. It was fault, because I took my anger out at him, but he just made it end up worse than I had expected.

M123

I was in a bad mood so she just got on my case. It was my fault.

F123

because he threw my coat out the door his fault

M124

2 months ago. Both

F124

We mutually decided that it was both of our faults b/c he shouldn't have said that in the way he did & I shouldn't have taken what he said the wrong way. He wasn't trying to insult me.

M125

She always thinking I want to break up no one.

F125

It happened b/c I listened to a person who causes trouble normally & for a lot of other people. I feel it was their fault.

M126

Frustration Both

F126

No one's fault. Just some tension.

M127

It just happened it was neither of our faults

F127

It occurred out of jealousy b/c I was afraid he had moved on even though he was still telling me that he loved me. It was my fault for initiating the argument.

F128

We have a lot of trouble making room in our schedules for each other.

M128

No one was really at fault, she felt that she needed to invite him and be nice to him, because he is kind of like a brother. But I did fight first.

M129

It occurred b/c I felt I would like the atmosphere. It was my fault.

F129

I was tired and sick - my fault.

F130

We were young and I was getting ready to graduate from high school and then going to college.

M130

The mood the feeling around the room

F131

I feel it occurred b/c of a big misunderstanding & b/c even though we were both sober at the time, we had been drinking prior to our conversation. We were both at fault by the end, but I feel in initiated it.

M131

I was jealous and it was my fault.

M132

She was mad at me? Hers.

F132

We were spending too much time together & getting on each other's nerves. Probably both of us were at fault.

F133

It occurred because I was spending more time around this boy. It was my fault for letting my feelings stray.

M133

It occurred because I was to bold and she was not willing to argue or discuss. It was my fault it started but her fault it continued.

F134

An accident - he failed to realize he had been talking that long w/them.

M134
(Nothing)

M135
Me, I was an idiot and got drunk.

F135
Peer pressure, all the brothers & pledges were drinking
His fault.

F136
Drinking. Both -mine because I hadn't noticed how much time I was spending with the other guy, and his because he never said anything to me before.

M136
It was both faults, it got blown out of proportion.

F137
It occurred b/c I had a bad relationship w/my "x" and not discussing it raised suspicions, so it was my fault.

M137
Both our faults. She may have initiated, but I had been drinking and probably completely overreacted.

F138
because his friends bug him about being whipped, they try to push his luck & see how long they can get him to stay out...his fault for letting them.

M138
Because I don't like to lose.
It was my fault.

F139
It occurred because of alcohol
both our faults - he was too drunk and I could have handled it differently.

M139
I was drunk, mine

F140
I was stress out & tired my fault

M140
Because she felt far away from me and she did not like it, her fault.

F141

It occurred b/c he keeps things built up within himself. It was his fault.

M141

I feel it occurred because she doesn't like to be tied down. She likes to meet new people. It was her fault and she agreed it was.

F142

It occurred because we were together for a while and he wondered if we should be so serious at such a young age. It's no one's fault.

M142

Society, & college pressure to succeed. Our culture has a stigma attached to couples who date past high school.

F143

Mine, I was in a very bad mood from the minute I woke up and I kept snapping at him.

M143

Nobody's fault. We were 5 hours apart and it had been a while since the last visit.

M144

B/c she was drinking and when she's drinking I tend to take a back seat. Her's

F144

Because we didn't see things on the same level, we live apart. I think it was both our fault - miscommunication.

F145

Because I took what he was saying wrongly & was having a bad/frustrating day.

M145

Because I felt like we were neglecting my family, the felt uneasy, and she was mad because we left a little earlier than planned.

F146

B/c I am insecure about this particular girl - - I feel threatened (he has a child to her). It was my fault mostly, but not completely.

M146

Jealousy. Hers!

F147

Because I left & he was drunk. Mine

M147

His fault more than any hers too a little

M148

She kissed another guy. Hers

F148

I think he was just upset at me or heard something from someone else & just started being a jerk. I think it was his b/c he knows how I am, but maybe my fault for not wanting to have sex all the time.

M149

My fault, I said things I shouldn't have

F149

b/c I was upset that he was not concerned enough about me wanting to talk to him to remember to come to my room. It was both our faults.

F150

It was my fault because I didn't tell him what I was doing before I did it. I told him afterwards and this upset him.

M150

It stuned (sic) me and it was something I did not think I could deal with. No ones fault.

F151

he cheated on me. his

M151

I was drunk & it was my fault

F152

Me, by not going over when I had time to, I was being selfish because I just didn't feel like walking over.

M152

Do not know. Mine.

M153

It occurred because of my jealous nature. It was my fault.

F153

because he is self-conscious & gets jealous easily It was both of our faults

F154

I will always feel that it was my fault. It obviously occurred for a good reason. Even though I feel it was my fault, the events that took place after that were his and mine. So, we were both at fault.

M154

It was my fault for erupting, but it was her fault for being there with him.

F155

I don't view this disagreement as a problem, so I can't place blame.

M155

It didn't, no one's

M156

I feel it occurred because of a misunderstanding and I don't think it was anyone's fault.

F156

We were desperate. We thought that was our last year of waiting and. . . all of the sudden another year in front us. Plus my partner's problems and the fact that I felt strongly that his family did not support him the way I would expect. Spending the whole summer at this parent's house just increased the tensions (sic) between us. It was both of our faults but I kept bringing up too much.

F157

I feel it was my fault I often pick him apart & expect a lot of unrealistic behavior from him when I'm stressed.

M157

It was a lack of communication and trust

F158

He was showing off in front of his friends, he probably drank too much. It was his fault because that was a mean thing to say & he didn't say he was sorry at the time.

M158

Both were tired my fault

F159

He tried to make me laugh, but it only hurt my feelings.

M159

Mine

M160

She is very protective and jealous sometimes. She feels I'll forget about her when I'm gone. I don't think it will change anything, so I guess it's her fault.

F160

I was a little drunk so that couldn't have helped, but it was something that I had been thinking about for awhile.

M161

We've never faught(sic), Time's

F161

See above - lack of communication, both our faults.

M162

insecure, hers

F162

Disrespect - his fault

M163

No one's fault. Just a difference in opinion.

F163

Probably because I was depressed, and all my friends are getting married and I was feeling left out.

F164

It needed to be brought up. No one in particular. Both were at fault.

M164

Because she wouldn't open up to me. But it was my fault for doubting her.